FRAGRANCE OF A LAND

Verdejo is among the Iberian Peninsula's most representative and unique white varieties. Perfectly adapted to drought and the less fertile clay plots of Castilla y León, it offers us intensely aromatic wines with a soft, fragrant fennel background. Some unique characteristics which we want to perpetuate across the Maset Ibericus range: the winery's commitment to biodiversity and the conservation of native varieties.

Lemon-yellow in colour with golden highlights. Intense aromas of tropical fruit (mango, pineapple and banana), fruit with bone (peach in syrup), citrus (lemon) and dry flower (camomille). Fragrant memories of fennel, licorice and wood. On the palate, it's unctuous and fruity, with the variety's trademark tart finish.
