MEDITERRANEAN WARMTH

Among hills of vineyards and pines, to the west of the coastal mountains, the old oak writes the passage of time on its bark. Under its shade, the tempranillo grape ripens slowly, achieving optimal conditions to make our Gran Roble, a wise and honest wine that, after a long barrel ageing, accumulates all the knowledge and flavour of a unique and singular setting.

Consume: improves to 2027

Pairing: dried fruit-stuffed partridges in wine sauce

Bright ruby in colour with soft claret reflections. Intense aromas of red (redcurrant and fig) and spices (black pepper and liquorice) which blend with the roasted aromas of ageing (vanilla). Recollections of eucalyptus, dill and strawberry yogurt. On the palate, it is soft and sweet, with a long, slightly bitter aftertaste.
